

Hawai`i Pacific Review

WRI-3951-AHY (1 credit, CRN: 2226): Staff Reader and
WRI-3953-AHY (3 credits, CRN: 2225): Managing Editor

There are two practicum course opportunities in which students may work on Hawai`i Pacific Review, the award-winning international online literary journal of Hawai`i Pacific University. The bulk of the work for Staff Readers will consist of reading submissions from the principal creative genres published in the journal: fiction, nonfiction, and poetry. The Managing Editor will have additional leadership duties and responsibilities. Staff Readers will be in constant communication with the Editors. The Managing Editor will be expected to occasionally meet with the Professor.

Instructor: Tyler McMahan
Online Course

Course is repeatable and counts toward both the English major and the Writing Minor