

HPU'S SHORT SCRIPT CONTEST

Supported by the
Mark Bauer Writing Award Fund

Deadline: Dec. 21, 2017

CATEGORIES Original Script (Play or screenplay)
 Adapted Script (Play or screenplay)

AWARDS (in each of 2 categories)

1st Prize - $150

2nd Prize - $100

3rd Prize - $50

* Finalists may receive an offer for a staged reading at the HPU Theatre in the spring 2018. Ties will result in equal sharing of prizes.

Who's Eligible? Any student registered at HPU during 2017.

Type of scripts? Any genre--play, screenplay, teleplay, radio play, animation, video game, etc. For the "Adapted Script" category, students can adapt copyright protected texts without permission (although this will restrict public production possibilities). However, the judges may only consider adaptations when the original text is available to them in an English translation. Adapted scripts will be judged on how well they shape the original text and what value they add to it. Length of scripts?
_____ Each script should be in the proper format for its medium (assume 1 minute of stage/screen time per page).

Theme or Topic? Any theme or topic is acceptable, but judges may take into consideration how well it would be received at a staged reading in HPU's Little Theatre.

Who are the Judges? There will be at least two and possibly three judges from the local theatre community or HPU's faculty selecting the finalists and winner.

What are the Criteria for Judging? There are no set criteria for judges to follow. Historically judges have taken into account the power of a script's theme or message, its skill in exploiting its intended medium, its originality, the cleverness of its plot or story, the insightfulness and believability of its characterization, the quality and intensity of its humor, suspense, drama, and/or poetry, and even the quality of its presentation (format, proofreading, etc.)
