

Section 1: Distance Learning Program Approval Process

All programs striving to be offered in a distance learning modality (fully online/online-hybrid/ in-person-hybrid/virtual) must be approved through the appropriate college curriculum committee the university undergraduate or graduate curriculum committee. After college curriculum committee approval, the distance learning advisory panel will provide recommendations to programs to assist in program planning.

In order to gain approval as a distance learning program, the following criteria must be met:

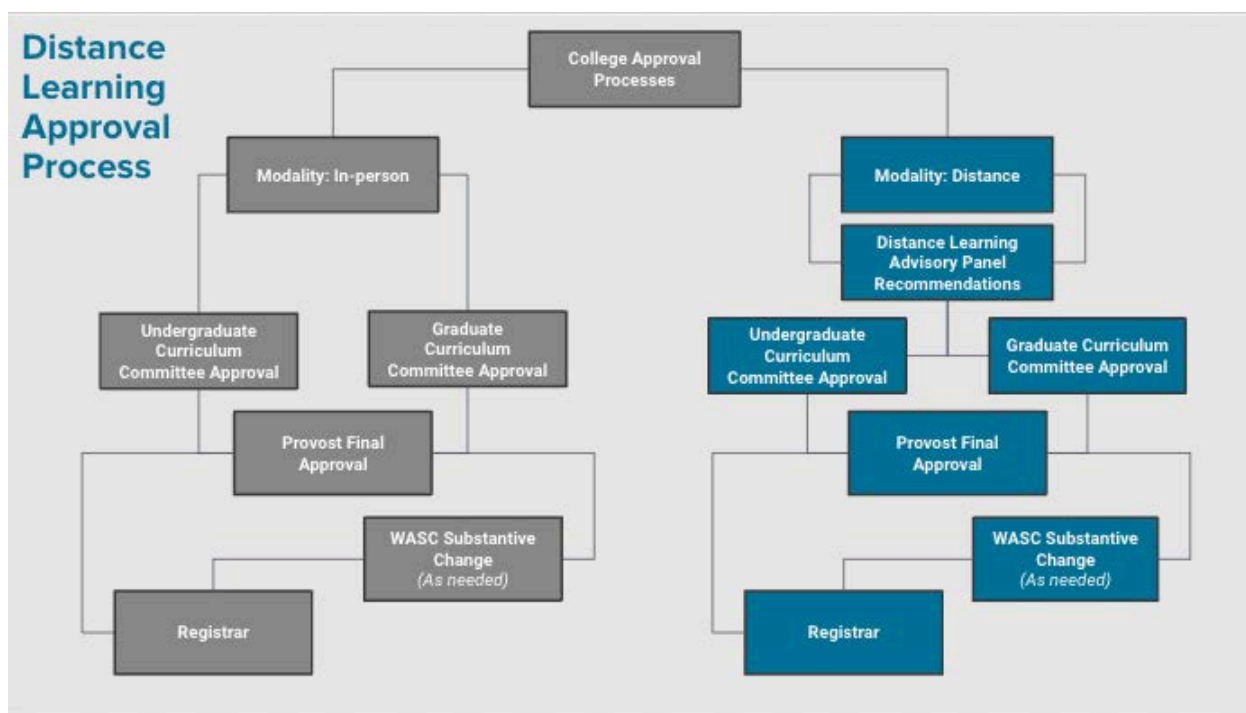

1. HPU departments must complete their internal college and undergraduate/graduate curriculum committee procedures to request a distance learning program.
2. For fully online programs, all courses in the program must be offered completely asynchronously online with no on-campus or in-person meeting requirements. The fully online program designation—ONL— is for programs that do NOT have courses which require any on-campus activities (e.g. group meeting, testing, on-campus labs, orientations) and operate completely asynchronously, with optional synchronous opportunities as applicable.
3. Academic, Student Services, and Helpdesk must be available to the student from a distance.
4. HPU departments and faculty should be aware of international compliance regulations and digital services/export taxes if accepting students living in foreign countries, and may want to seek assistance from General Counsel.
5. (Professional licensure programs only) – Programs must establish a written process to determine a student's location at the time a prospective student seeks information about an academic program leading to professional licensure, or a student enrolls in, and/or an existing student notifies the institution of a change of address, for purposes of issuing the required disclosures under the rules as to whether the academic program, regardless of modality, fulfills the professional licensure requirements of states in which the prospective student or occupational licensure programs as well as certification programs. Each HPU program should make sure it is providing this direct disclosure and include a sample of its direct disclosures to current and prospective students in its policies and procedures documentation.
6. Fully online programs must have an approved substantive change or administrative approval from the accrediting body, WASC. If we offer more than 50 percent of a degree program electronically distance-delivered, approval from WASC is required before student recruitment can begin. This must be submitted once the program is approved by the undergraduate/ graduate curriculum committee and the provost.
7. HPU departments should also be aware that distance learning program development requires liaising with various HPU offices outside of the Office of Online Programs & Academic Partnerships, such as Marketing, Admissions, the Registrar, etc ... It is the responsibility of individual programs to follow up with the appropriate offices once programs have been approved to be fully online in order to prepare programs for launch.
8. Design and development of any NEW distance learning courses in programs will be facilitated through the Online Instruction Fundamentals short course. This 2 hour self-paced, asynchronous short course assists instructors in cultivating and implementing online course design, development, and delivery skills. After successful completion, instructors may bypass the short course when designing subsequent new distance learning courses. Please submit a timeline outlining when program faculty will complete the Online Instruction Fundamentals short course before the launch of any new distance learning courses.

Please include the program map, a copy of the Academic Database Change Form and Record of Curriculum Action and Review Form, and the course development timeline.

Upon approved by the college curriculum committee, program planning documents will be routed to the distance learning advisory panel to provide recommendations, and then directed to the undergraduate or graduate curriculum committee for approval. Once finally approved by the provost, programs must request appropriate Banner code changes and submit to WASC for substantive change approval as needed.
